

CALL FOR PAPERS AND PANELS

CHANGE AND CONTINUITY: POLITICS, SOCIO-ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS IN AFRICA AND THE WORLD

South African Association of Political Studies (SAAPS) 14th Biennial Conference 2018

Venue: University of Pretoria, Hatfield Campus, Pretoria, South Africa

Dates: 1 - 3 October 2018

The art and science of politics and international relations has experienced rapid and major changes globally in the past decade or more with implications for political analysis. Apart from the changes sweeping through the political realm at national, regional and international levels, new ideas, tools of analysis, methods, theories, theses and questions have also emerged. Some catalytic political developments include the phenomena of revolutions and uprisings by the excluded and downtrodden; the agency of civil society in all its forms including women's and youth groups; internal revolutions and fissures within political parties and movements; the upsurge of social movements occasionally connecting across national boundaries; the explosion of social media and other technologies as means and tools of conducting politics heralding the rise of the digital era in political science; unusual cases of political succession and the emergence of younger and more versatile leaders; new forms of security threat and responses; ebbs and flows in regional integration with the case of Brexit indicative of struggles between nationalism and supranationalism; the re-emergence of populist/nationalist/extremist politics; new alliances and forums on the diplomatic front; and new patterns of interface between the market and politics in many countries, among others.

The rise of popular revolutionary struggles in parts of Africa epitomized by mass struggles over land and property; revolutions such as the so-called Arab Spring; popular uprising and palace coup against sit-tight and dictatorial leaders; signs of democracy fatigue; the resurgence of energy, water and food crises; stagnation in the regional and continental integration process; uncertain outcomes of Africa's strategic international partnerships; static dynamism in Africa's agency in world affairs are among developments suggesting an uncomfortable co-existence between change and continuity in African politics. In South Africa, examples include the decline in the ANC's dominance of the political space; student's uprisings such as the #FeesMust Fall and calls for decolonization of the curricula; state capture by business and renewed crack down on state and private sector corruption; the upsurge of new political formations including critical civil society formations, and so forth. These all represent changes in the conduct and explanation of politics as we have always known it both at national and international levels.

However, these changes also raise questions around whether they are mere shifts which represent continuities in varying forms or real changes and discontinuities from the norm. Are we seeing something new or a continuation of the old in new ways; change without change? Also, what change is desirable and ideal? These questions call for some thinking through the populism of transformation, reforms, decolonization, de-imperialization, nationalism and other forms of change which dominate the practice and study of politics and international relations globally. The conference organizers therefore invite abstracts from scholars including postgraduate students for panels, papers, roundtables and posters that critically reflect on the dynamic interface between change and continuity across a range of sub-themes including but not limited to the following:

- Rethinking democracy and development
- Global transformations and reforms
- International relations in a changing environment
- The changing metageography of geopolitics
- Domestic and international terrorism and responses
- The decline of regional integration
- Reconfiguration of global power, world leadership and global governance
- Emerging powers of the global South
- Foreign policy and diplomacy
- Regime change and political change
- The decline/demise of dominant political parties
- The politics of anti-corruption and regime change
- Revolutions, uprisings and counter-revolutions
- Resurgence of populism and nationalism
- Human security and the changing global security landscape

- Political education and change
- Women and the engendering politics and IR
- Leadership accountability, governance and change
- Critical civil society, social movements and change
- Students/Youths as change agents
- Technology, science and power
- The practice and teaching of politics and IR in the digital age
- Decolonization of knowledge, power and society
- Political philosophy, political thought and alternative policy paradigms

SUBMISSION DATES

- Deadline for abstracts and panel submissions: 31 March 2018
- Notice of acceptance of abstracts and panel submissions shall be communicated from 15 April 2018
- Deadline for submission of full papers: 17 August 2018.

Abstract and panel submissions should include:

- Title of paper
- Name(s) of author(s)
- Affiliation
- Email address
- 300 words length include: purpose of the paper, methodology, results/argument, conclusions, recommendations or implications.
- 5 keywords.

If proposing a panel, roundtable, group poster presentation or such, please provide an abstract outlining the focus of the panel and indicate if you have identified panelists already (include their names, affiliation and paper titles). Indicate if these panels will accept other paper abstracts.

All abstracts and panel proposals should be submitted via email to saaps2018@up.ac.za

CONFERENCE OUTPUTS

A special book volume will be put together from selected peer-reviewed papers for publication by an internationally-acclaimed publisher.

Another batch of selected peer-reviewed papers will be proposed for special editions in three accredited and acclaimed journals.

REGISTRATION COSTS:

Early bird registration expires on 1 June 2018.

Full members	R1000
Non-members	R1500
Student members	R100
Student non-members	R250

Please note that SAAPS membership forms can be returned together with registration, thus enabling you to save on registration fees.

Membership fees are as follows: (membership includes Politikon)

Full member (SA residents)	R200
Institutional member	R300
Associate member (non-SA residents)	R250
Student member	R50

Final and full registration by 17 August 2018.

Full members	R1500
Non-members	R2000
Student members	R200
Student non-members	R500

Bank details:

Bank	ABSA
Account name	University of Pretoria
Account number	21 4000 0038
Branch & code	Hatfield/632005
Account type	Cheque
Swift code	ABSAZAJJ
Reference	Your full name SAAPS2018 (e.g. Christopher Isike SAAPS2018)

Important: Please email proof of payment to saaps2018@up.ac.za

Enquiries:

Please check the conference website for basic information.

For further enquiries, please contact conference chair, Professor Chris Isike through saaps2018@up.ac.za or by calling 012 420 5182

Local Organizing Committee:

Prof Chris Isike (UP) – Conference Chair	Mr Roland Henwood (UP)
Prof Siphamandla Zondi (UP)	Dr Mabutho Shangase (UP)
Dr Cori Wielega (UP)	Ms Sithembile Mbete (UP) – Programme Chair
Ms Safiyya Goga (UP)	Ms Bongki Cwayi (UP) – Secretariat

Extended Organizing Committee include:

Prof Chris Landsberg (UJ); Dr Ayesha Omar (Wits); Dr Kgothatso Shai (UL); Prof Tendai Sithole (Unisa)